Elsy Studios Hires New IT Manager and Interior Designer

Nathan Applegate and Jennifer Schmidt Join Denver Design Studio

DENVER (November 20, 2014) Denver-based commercial interior design firm Elsy Studios (www.elsystudios.com) recently added two new professionals to its team, Nathan Applegate, IT manager and Jennifer Schmidt, interior designer. The new hires will support increased project demand of more than 30 percent so far in 2014.

Applegate will work with designers and clients to draft commercial interiors for tenant improvements and new building construction. He brings more than seven years of experience in drafting in the architecture, engineering and telecommunications industries to the role. Jennifer is responsible for project administration, lease exhibits, space planning, vendor collaboration, and submitting Request for Proposals. She has more than 10 years of professional experience in residential and commercial interior design and business development.

“It’s been a busy year at Elsy Studios, so we knew we needed individuals with the ability to jump into a project without missing a beat,” said Lynn Coit, president of Elsy Studios. “Nathan and Jennifer have just the right blend of skills, energy and experience, and I’m confident they will make great additions to the Elsy team. We look forward to tapping into their individual strengths to create unique spaces that fit our clients’ business models.”

Before joining the Elsy team, Nathan served as a design engineer for the Allstate Fire Protection, Inc. as well as drafting technician for QC Data, a company that provides data-centric services to support asset management, engineering and construction works, and property management. Nathan holds a bachelor’s degree in Linguistics from Brigham Young University and a certificate in CAD Drafting.

Prior to Elsy, Jennifer developed her organizational skills in interior design for Waring Associates and Burkett Design in Denver. In these roles, she handled everything from coordinating office building documentation to developing architectural space-plans, project renderings and sample boards for commercial clients. Jennifer holds a bachelor’s degree in Interior Design from the University of North Texas in Denton and successfully completed the Auto CAD program from Arapahoe Community College.
